

DR. JOHN FOX FOSSIL COLLECTION

The new collection of fossils, recently added to the Nature Room, was generously donated by Dr. John Fox, a former Baylor professor. He is an archaeologist, anthropologist, paleontologist, fossil hunter, and collector. Dr. Fox has spent much of his life learning and educating others.

The collection consists of over 100 individual pieces, varying in size, predominantly aging from the Cretaceous geological time period which spans from about 135 million years ago to about 65 million years ago. The fossils were found within 80 miles of Bosque County known to have a rich marine fossil history, as the area was once under water. Several of the fossils were even found at the Horn Shelter.

There are three main types of fossils in this collection which are featured in the exhibition:

- Ammonites, fossilized mollusks kin to the modern Nautilus, a spiral-shaped, shell-dwelling cephalopod;
- Bivalves, mollusks with two valves including common sea creatures such as oysters, clams, and mussels; and
- Echinoids, fossilized sand dollars, sea urchins, star fish, and the like.

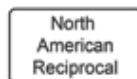

We are very grateful to Dr. Fox for his donation. The expanded exhibition will educate many students and adults who will come through the museum and learn about the importance of the different types of fossils found in and around Bosque County.

This exhibition is now part of the museum's permanent collection and can be viewed during normal business hours. Updates will be made as the museum continues to develop the exhibition as an educational tool.

Special note: Dr. John Fox has been awarded an Associate Membership to the Bosque Museum.

THE MILDRED HOGSTEL COLLECTION

The Hogstel family of Bosque County recently gave a collection of more than 100 books and numerous archives to the Cleng Peerson Research Library of the Bosque Museum.

Among this collection are books about Norwegian immigration, biographies of Norwegian leaders, Bosque County Norwegian-English dictionaries and grammars, Norwegian history and travel, and family genealogical histories of Canuteson, Brown, Hogstel, Bergstrom, Bronstad, Rogstad, Lindsey, Nelson, Hogevoll, and Dahl-Holen-Billert.

Dr. Hogstel was intensely interested in her Norwegian roots, and as a result, she collected and maintained numerous books and archives of the family history.

ONLINE RESEARCH COMING SOON

We receive many requests for photographs and documents in the museum archive collections which take significant time to access. The process will be enhanced with an online research database soon to be available on our website. Our staff has been building the database that, once published, will make it easier for genealogists, historians, and researchers to view museum collection items. The initial collections available for online research will include:

- Jacob Olson Collection
- Clifton College Collection
- Gurine Nilsen Collection
- Family History Collections
